A Decade Of Excellence

MC CUTCHEON HIGH SCHOOL: 1976-1985. A DECADE OF EXCELLENCE.

One high school in Southern Tippecanoe County had its conception shortly after the Reorganization Act during the late 1960's and early 70's. The idea and dream of a modern up-to-date facility that would meet the needs of the community and provide excellence in educational opportunities for all its citizens became reality in 1975 when Wainwright and Southwestern High Schools joined to form McCutcheon High School. Endless hours of planning by the staffs of the former high schools finally materialized by uniting previous rivals.

The name "McCutcheon" was selected from a list of names submitted by patrons, students and staff members. Mrs. Hilda Ruth Hippensteel, Southwestern's librarian, submitted the name McCutcheon in honor of John Tinney McCutcheon, the famous newspaper cartoonist. The birthplace of John T. McCutcheon is located within the school district at the intersection of State Road 43 and the Southwestern Road. John T. was the son of Capt. John Barr McCutcheon, a Civil War veteran who later was Sheriff of Tippecanoe County, and Clara (Gick) McCutcheon. John T. had two brothers, George Barr and Ben F. McCutcheon, who both were well known authors, and a sister, Mrs. Jessie (McCutcheon) Nelson.

The McCutcheon family, of Scottish descent, belong to the MacDonald clan. The students and faculty chose the MacDonald tartan, a combination of red, navy and black on a dark green background for the McCutcheon High School band uniforms. (The plaid design made by stripes of varying widths and colors placed against a solid background is used to designate tartans of different clans.) Students also chose the name "Tartan" for the name of their yearbook.

Students chose the school colors Cardinal Red and Gold and the Maverick as the mascot.

A maverick can be any wild animal, but the bull like the Chicago Bull's mascot was chosen. The school's crest was later designed depicting the academic, vocational and extra curricular programs offered at McCutcheon.

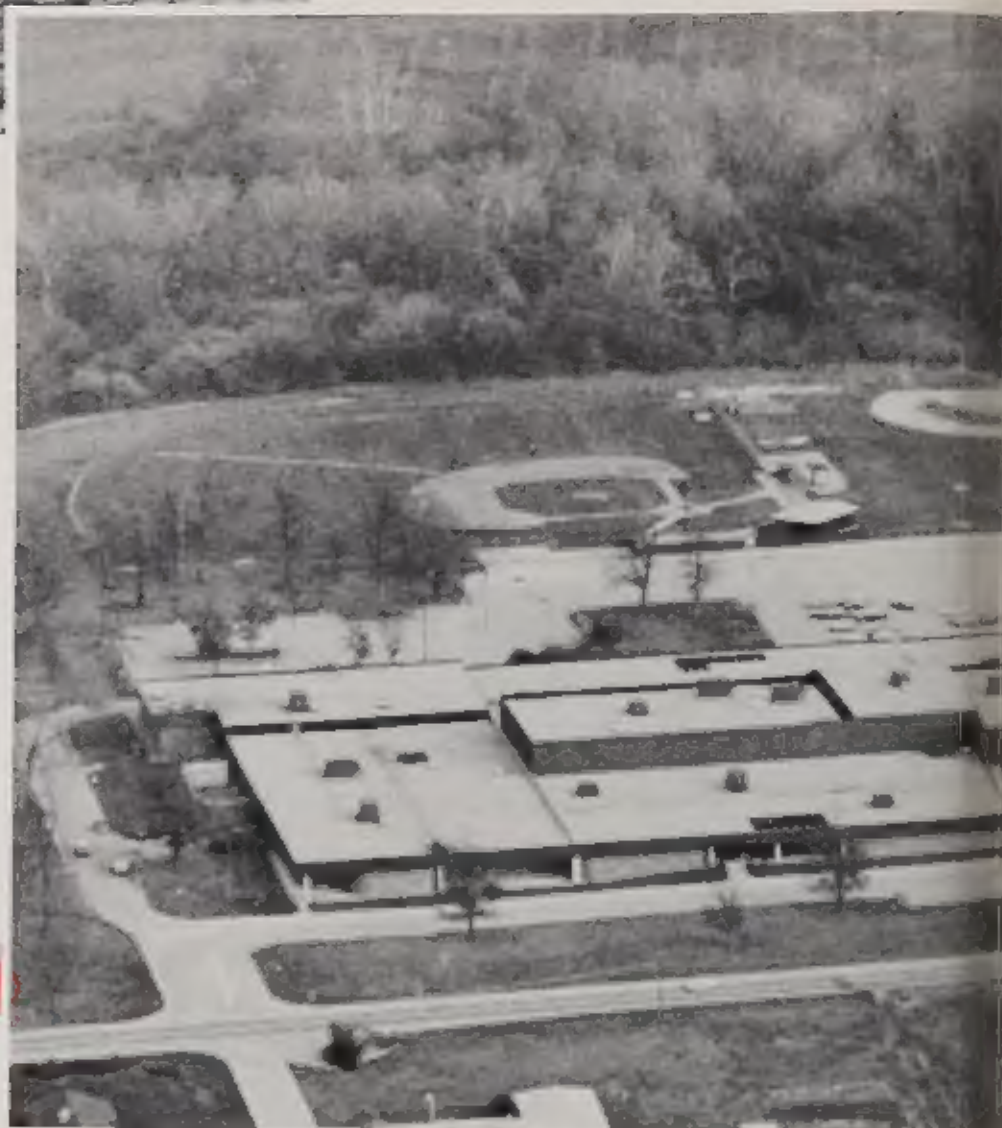

Jack Nicholson, an art teacher at Jefferson High School during the 1950's, was commissioned by Leonard W. Smith, librarian at Jefferson High School, to paint and hang murals of famous Indiana authors in the school's library. John Tinney McCutcheon was an author chosen for one of the murals. The mural on McCutcheon, done in poster paints, depicted McCutcheon's dreams, desires, adventures and accomplishments. Pictured on the mural are: "Injun Summer," one of McCutcheon's more famous cartoons; Heavilon Hall at Purdue University, from which he graduated; a bottle of ink representing his career; the flopped mutt, which became McCutcheon's trademark; the world to illustrate his love of travel; the smiling sun under his picture from his autobiography which had the inscription

"He made the sun shine;" and the rain god and lion representing one of his more famous travel experiences, his African safari trip with Theodore Roosevelt.

The transition of old Jefferson High School into Tippecanoe Junior High School entailed the removal of the murals from the library and placing them in storage. Jack Nicholson, knowing McCutcheon High School was named for John T. McCutcheon, helped negotiate the gift of this mural to our school. The mural, restored by Nancy Geyer and Kay Montes, was presented to McCutcheon High School at a special convocation on December 19, 1980.

From the conception of McCutcheon High School to the present, Maverick students, staff and administrators have been dedicated to the task of providing the citizens of our school community with an educational program that meets the needs of present and future citizens, a program that promotes excellence in education.

Future Of Wells Library Building Remains Uncertain

A familiar building to approximately 23,000 Tippecanoe County patrons and numerous McCutcheon students was the Wells Memorial Public Library. The fate of the Wells building was still in question as library personnel worked toward completion of the centralized Tippecanoe County Public Library at Seventh and South Streets.

Plans for the new facility began under Library Director Ralph Van Handel several years ago. A centralized library in the county seat, a larger tax base to provide greater financial support, and the rapid advancement in media technology were considerations in the decision to combine city and county libraries in one location. Furthermore, the Wells Memorial Public Library was not designed to house and utilize audio visual materials and an expanded collection has caused crowded storage of books. Also, the building was not equipped for easy access by handicapped patrons.

The libraries combined and officially became the Tippecanoe County Public Library on January 1, 1983 and the move to the new facility was anticipated for late 1986 or early 1987. Meanwhile, the future of the Wells building remained in question due to legalities in the estate plans of the Wells family. Whatever the future of Wells was, however, one thing remained certain: numerous McCutcheon students would not soon forget the treasures of knowledge housed there.

Riot Rocks

Purdue Campus

Lafayette and West Lafayette residents saw some excitement on October 6, 1984, as a riot broke out on the Purdue University campus.

The riot was the result of a large party that became wildly out of control. Approximately two thousand students made up the mob that threw rocks and bottles at the police, who were trying to get the situation under hand. For fear of a fire that was possible from fireworks being set off, the West Lafayette Fire Department was called to duty.

Though it took its place in Purdue's long line of history, many Purdue officials and students would like to forget it.

Klinker, Jones, Orr, And Mutz Win Again

Elections on the local level proved true for State Representatives Sheila Klinker and Stan Jones. Klinker, running for her second term, defeated Marian Miller, and Jones defeated Dr. John Knotz. Indiana Governor Bob Orr was re-elected to his position with Lt. Governor, John Mutz.

ITE FRI SAT PURPLE RAIN

Two big "Chartbusters" in the Lafayette area, as well as the United States were Ghostbusters, which starred Bill Murray, and Purple Rain, Prince's movie debut.

Dan Aykroyd, Bill Murray, and Harold Ramis played three "Ghostbusters." "Ghostbusters" was the name given to this trio of parapsychologists and also the title of this scientific suspense thriller.

The three actors were "kicked out" of the Academy for conducting unbecoming experiments, and because of this, set up shop under the name "Ghostbusters."

They tackled the underworld "ghosts" with their scientific genius. Once they had captured these spirits, an environmental agent tampered with their machines and accidentally let the spirits loose. The city became victimized from these ghosts and consequently set the stage for a sequel.

Purple Rain was a semi-auto-biographical movie about a rock singer, Prince, trying to make it in the music business. Prince competed with his rival, Morris Day, and his band The Time. Prince fell in love with Apollonia who with the help of Morris Day formed her own band.

Prince had troublesome times with his band, the Revolution, and with his family. After his father killed himself, Prince straightened up his act and sang his hit songs "Purple Rain" and "Let's Go Crazy."

The soundtrack for Purple Rain became a smash hit in 1984.

American Athletes Go For Gold At Los Angeles Olympic Games

The 1984 Summer Olympics that were held in Los Angeles proved to be a year of gold for the Americans as they captured 83 gold, 61 silver, and 30 bronze medals leading all nations in victories.

Celebrated U.S. victories included Gold for the Men's Gymnastics, Men's Volleyball, Women's Basketball teams and coach Bobby Knight's Men's Basketball team. The Women's Volleyball team's dream of gold was shattered by China, but the impressive group captured a Silver medal. Numerous medals were taken by Americans in Track and Field and Swimming events, and names such as Mary Lou Retton, Carl Lewis, and

Edwin Moses became household words.

Although the Soviet bloc boycotted the Summer games, the games went smoothly. Gina Hemphill, grand daughter of 1936 gold-medal winner Jesse Owens, carried the Olympic torch into the Coliseum at the opening ceremony, and Rafer Johnson, a former decathlon winner, lighted the flame.

No one will forget the spectacular closing ceremony which included fireworks and break dancers. The ceremony closed two weeks of worldly peace and universal friendship and ended with glory, with anguish, and with reason for all to be proud.

Ferraro Is First Female Candidate/ Reagan And Bush Win Big

Geraldine Ferraro was the first woman to run for the national office of Vice President. Walter Mondale, the Democratic nominee for President, announced at the Democratic Convention in San Francisco that Ferraro would be his running mate. At the Republican Convention in Dallas, President Ronald Reagan announced he would be seeking a second term in office, with Vice President George Bush as his running mate. Although the nominees had tough television debate sessions, Reagan pulled through with an enormous victory.

Space Shuttle's Satellite Retrieval A First For NASA

In mid November of 1984, skywalking astronauts retrieved two satellites and returned them to earth. It opened the new opportunity of retrieving as well as launching objects into space. Astronauts Joe Allen, Dale Gardner, Dave Walker, Anna Fisher and Commander Frederick Hawk worked on retrieving the two satellites with a mechanical arm used to pull them close to the Discovery. This first time experience for NASA presents a hope for future retrieval of satellites and "space junk" which would save NASA money.

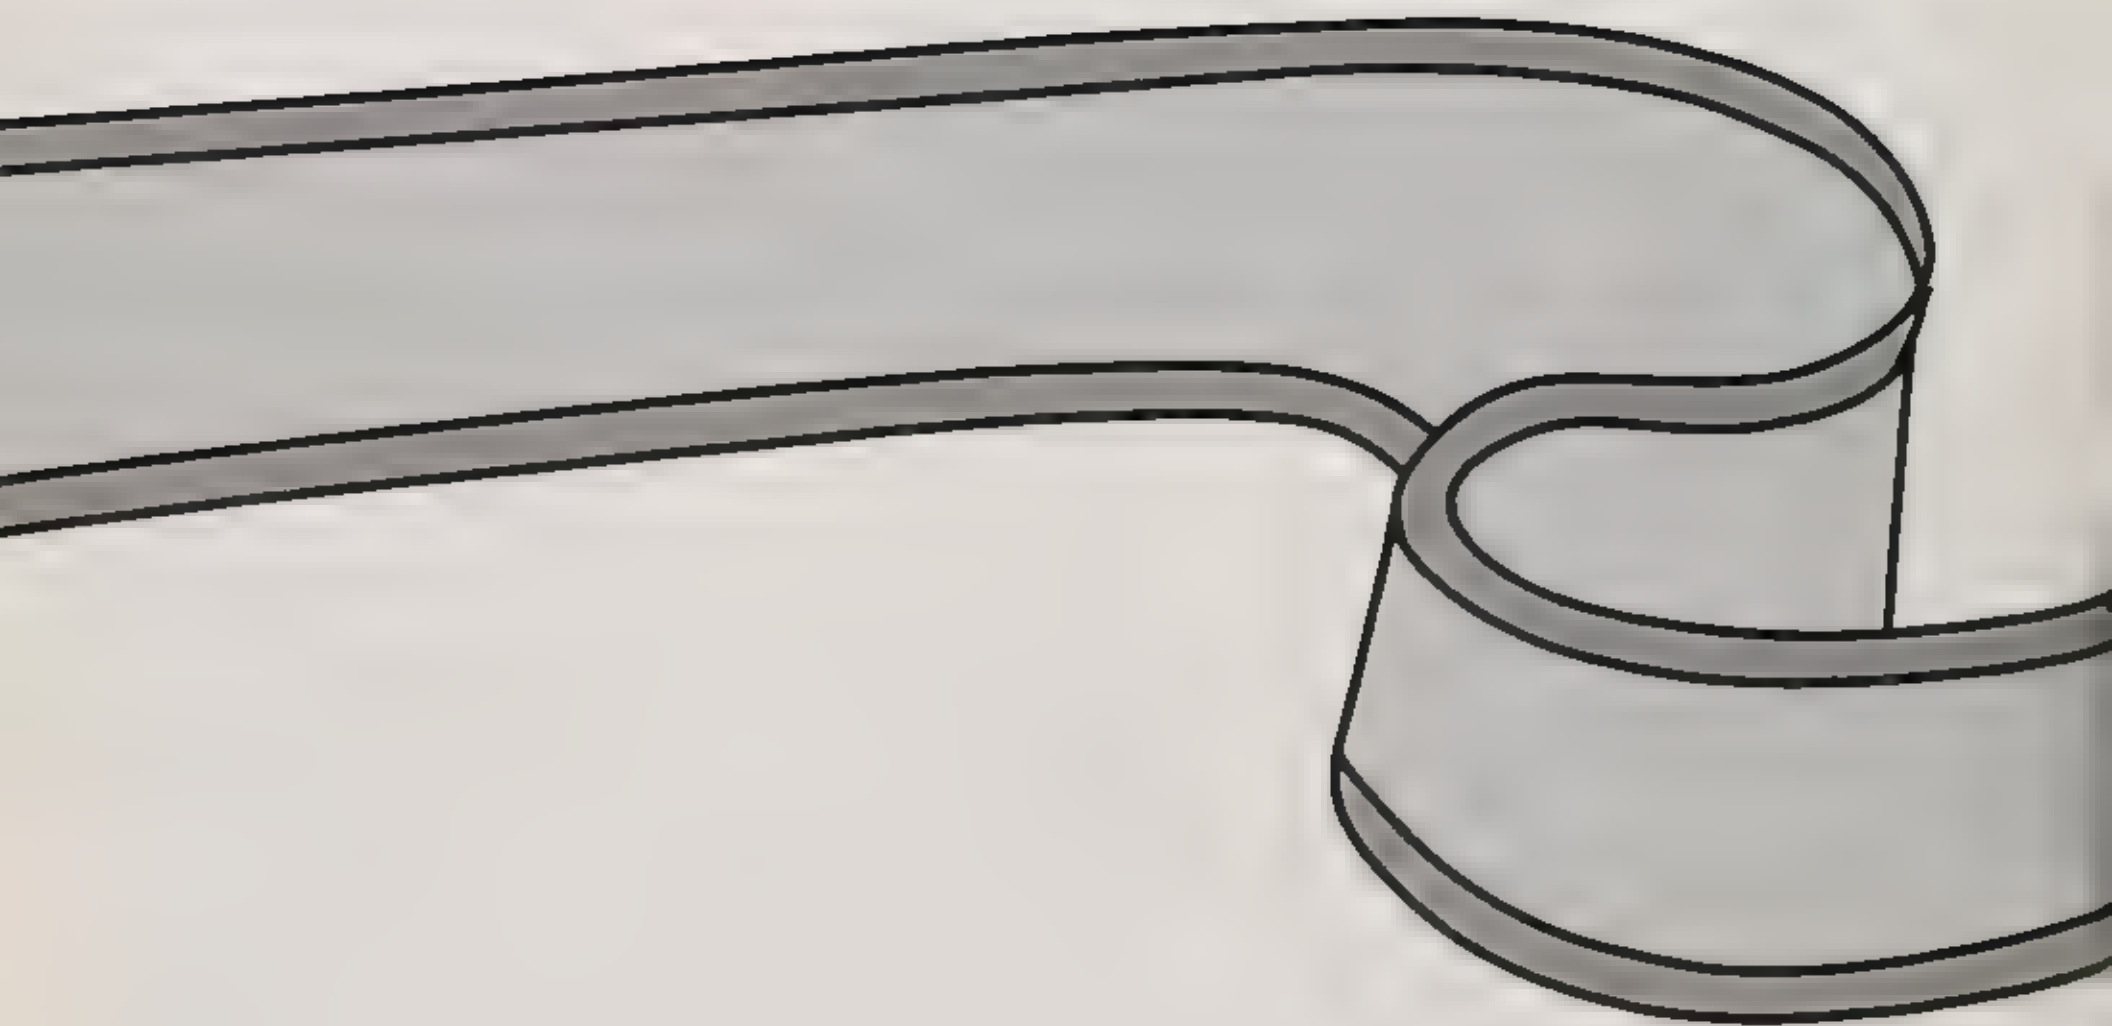

Heart Transplants' Successes Vary

A scientific first for doctors, a small baboon heart was transplanted in a 15 day old infant girl, "Baby Fae," who received the baboon heart at the Loma Linda University Medical Center in California, had an underdeveloped heart and was about a month premature. Doctor Leonard Bailey led the team of more than a dozen surgeons to operate on Baby Fae. She died at midnight on November 15 after a heart block and kidney failure.

William Schroeder, a Jasper, Indiana man received the second artificial heart at Humana Hospital in Louisville, Kentucky. Dr. William DeVries, who operated on Barney Clark, the world's first artificial transplant recipient, led the operation on Schroeder on November 25. Schroeder, age 52, was in good condition with the Jarvik-7 artificial heart beating a steady 70 beats to the minute.

Assassin's Bullet Kills Ghandi

India's Prime Minister Indira Ghandi was assassinated on October 31, 1984 by two members of her security detail in New Delhi. Ghandi had received threats from the Sikh, a religious fanatical group, after she attacked and captured the Sikh's holy temple. Ghandi's son took over her position of Prime Minister until an election could be held.

Mavs Shine At "A Silver Decade"

Lights, camera, action . . . the 1984 Homecoming game against Twin Lakes had started, and TV 18 captured the highlights. The football team, coached by Bob Brock, managed to take a victory, defeating the Twin Lakes Indians.

At half-time, Mr. Miner announced, to the surprise of the Seniors, the Juniors won the showcase. Although the Seniors took a first on their hall decorations, the tradition of "Senior Rule" was broken.

The crowning of the Homecoming King and Queen was the main event. The court, made up of Sophomores Steve Royer and Susan Newell, Juniors Brian Dudzinski and Kim Kochert, and Seniors Jim Stark and Holly Aldridge, Blair Ford and Chrissy Anwander, Mike Kochert and Susan Slayton, walked out onto the field after having ridden around the track in Corvettes. Seniors Mike Kochert and Susan Slayton were crowned King and Queen by last years Queen Melinda Salmon

After the game, the students piled into the gym to get their yearbooks at the annual Homecoming dance. Signing yearbooks and picking out old friends to say "Hello" to kept the students busy and entertained.

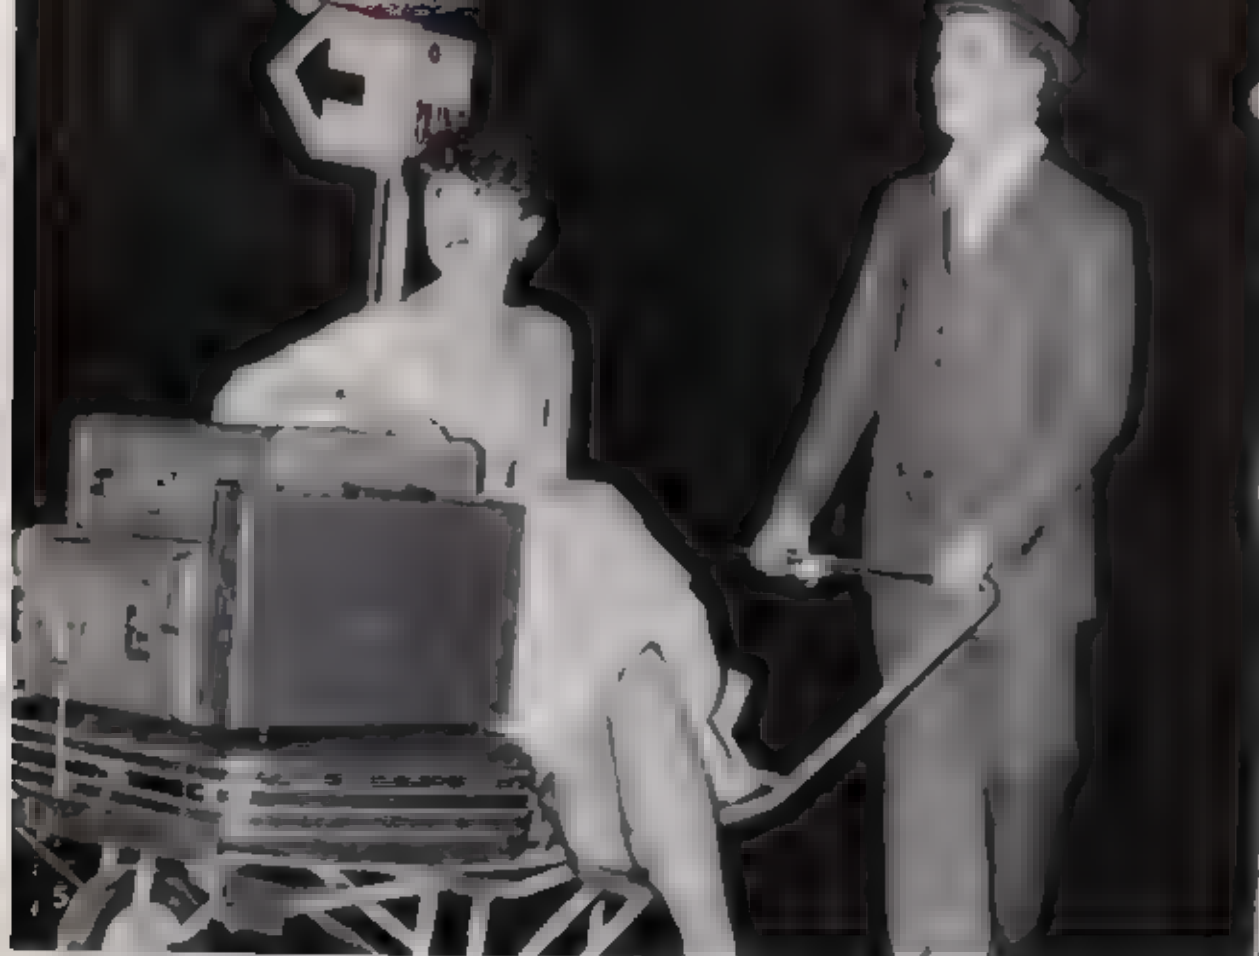

The draft, the event that changed the world, also changed the little town of Sweetapple, OH. Conrad Birdie, the rock n-roll hero is drafted, and the teenagers of America protest. Birdie (Brian Bundy) goes to Ohio to perform his farewell song and to kiss one lucky girl, symbolizing his departure. Kim MacAffee (Jennifer Hoffine) is to be that lucky girl, and she is surrounded by the Mayor (Shane Hartke), Birdie's one-time song writer Albert Peterson (Steve Cavanaugh), Albert's secretary and girlfriend Rose (Andrea Lemieux), Albert's overprotective mother (Kathy Avolt), and Kim's very jealous boyfriend Hugo (Brian Benjamin).

The town is turned upside down with a mixture of stardom, family argument, and love, as people begin to understand life.

Mr. Kinsey directed another fine musical, with the help of his student director Kim Carrico.

Spring Comedy Entertains

The Man Who Came to Dinner, written by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman took McCutcheon students back to the Christmas of 1939, to the small town of Mesalia, Ohio. The play begins when Sherridan Whiteside, portrayed by Matt Slagel, slips on some ice on the front porch of Mr and Mrs. Stanley (Steve Cavanaugh and Kristin Boyd). "Sherry" decides to sue the Stanley's for his inconvenience. He proceeds to make everyone's life miserable for the next two weeks, including his secretary, Maggie Cutler (Susan Slayton). Maggie has fallen in love with the editor of the Mesalia Journal, Bert Jefferson (Bryan Boyd), and Sherry is determined to break it up.

In the end, the Christmas cheer and love overcomes Sherry's bitterness, and all is well ... until he leaves the Stanley's via the front door, where he slips again and injures his other hip.

Director Dan Kinsev and student director Kim Carrico helped the play to be a great success.

Mavs Spend An Evening "On Desert Moon"

"On Desert Moon", the 1985 prom theme, turned out to be a wonderful success. The Junior class and their sponsors, Miss Marthey and Mr. O'Maley, turned the Commons into a paradise on April 17, 1985.

The fun began at 9:00 with the Pictoretaker snapping away shots of the couples. Seniors Holly Aldridge and Brent Niebert were crowned Prom Queen and King.

At 1:00 the afterprom began. Gambling, dancing, and watching movies were among the main attractions. Prizes were given out as names were drawn at random.

Cooperation made the 1985 prom a memorable night.

1 - Holly Aldridge and Brent Niebert are crowned the 1985 Prom Queen and King

2 - Shannon Hoon and Steph Girardot represent the '85 prom court

3 - "On Desert Moon" brings Mav couples closer

4 - Holly and Brent dance to the traditional Prom theme song

5 - George Patrick and Becky Kirts dance the night away

6 - Brenda Simler, Shannon Hoon, Steve Russell, and Lora Short arrive in style

7 - The '85 prom brought Dawn Schwarz and her escort closer together

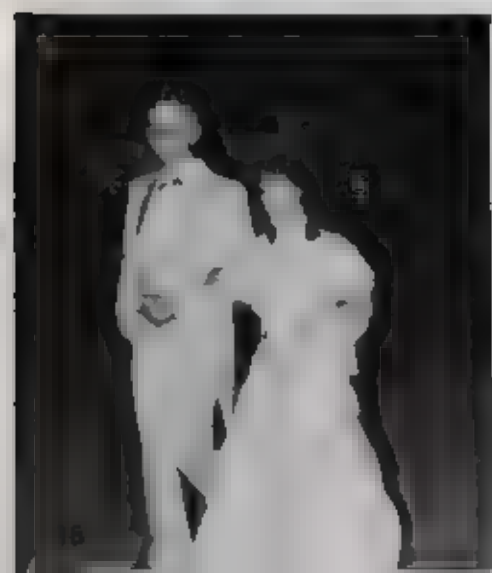

8 - Ray Bridwell, Lori Ostheimer, Jodi Probasco, and Brad Royer wonder what the night has in store

9 - Val German and Scott Jones are members of the Prom Court of '85

10 - Kris Robbins and Mike Kochert are Prom representatives of '85

11 - Ray Bridwell, Gary Swank, Dave Putts, Shelli May, Brad Royer, and Steph Girardot take time out for a picture

It all started in May, 1984. After graduation and the class of '85 officially became Seniors, the fun began. "Senioritis" set in when Senior pictures were taken, and the first day of school started the Senior countdown. The excitement was growing as the year progressed. Football games, hayrides, sock-hops, and dates added up to a fun-filled year. The idea of snow days and Christmas Break kept many of us pushing forward and attending the sometimes dreaded school day. The groans were heard in February when we missed the holiday break, and could not wait to spend the first week in April sunning ourselves in Florida. (Ah ... spring break '85!!!). Returning with our tanned bodies, the final stretch was in affect. The proud cries "this is Senior hallway all underclassmen, OUT!" brought cheers from fellow students, as well as detentions from Mr. Thayer and Mr. Resler. "On Desert Moon", the 1985 prom theme sparked an excitement as the girls tried desperately to find a unique dress, and the guys tried desperately to stand the thought of wearing a tuxedo for three hours. We made it through that. Finals and graduation were the only two big obstacles left in the way between us and freedom. After long hours of studying, the finals arrived ... and (thank goodness!) passed. June 2, the day we had looked forward to since kindergarten, was upon us. It was funny; here we had waited 13 years to graduate, and now everybody was crying. We had to say good-bye to friends, and chase our dreams. The Senior class of 1985 will catch those dreams and desires, and turn them into reality.

A black and white portrait of a woman with dark, curly hair. She is looking slightly to the right of the camera with a gentle expression. She is wearing a light-colored dress with a dark, possibly floral or leaf-like, collar. The background is a soft, out-of-focus grey.

Juniors, The Class Of '86, Win Throws McCutcheon's 10th

We were the "middle men" of the school. The power we had to hold over the lowly Sophomores gave us a few moments of glory, but they were quickly doused by the over powering Seniors who made us carry lunch trays. But, we got those Seniors back when we won the Homecoming Showcase

The prom seemed just around the corner, and we were busy selling magazines. Boy, what hard work! But our efforts paid off, and with the help of our sponsors, Mr. O'Maley and Miss Marthey, "On Desert Moon" was a big success.

We began our own little count down; how many days until we were considered Seniors! The chance to be Junior Marshalls at Commencement was a big step toward Senioritis, and we couldn't wait until next year.

Coming in to McCutcheon for our first year, we, the "bottom of the barrel" Sophomores had a tough job ahead of us. Finding the right classroom was always a chore when some Senior gave us the wrong directions. Explaining to our teachers why we were late was an even tougher chore. Getting through the lunch room without dropping a tray was a miracle . . . getting through without carrying a Senior's dirty tray was an even bigger miracle.

Yes, we were the Sophomores; unknoknowledged about McCutcheon, but oh, so ready to learn. We survived the school year without being mobbed by Juniors and Seniors, and, with excellence, we push forward on to bigger and better things.

MOMH students (Moderately Mentally Handicapped) are always hard at work in their room as teachers Mrs. Treida and Mrs. Mitchell work with them daily. The basic skills such as knowing colors and numbers are taught to these students in a way that is fun.

The MOMH students work hard with sheer determination and effort. The result is their graduation, which brings tears to their eyes as well as to the eyes of the audience.

A Decade Of Assistance

Everyday we see them, as we pass through the lunch line or run into them sweeping the floor. Students of McCutcheon owe the cooks and custodians a big "thanks" for all they do to make life at McCutcheon comfortable.

Endless hours of work go into preparing food for approximately 850 people and keeping our school clean. Never having been without, the work these people do is often taken for granted by students who fail to realize how important these "silent heroes and heroines" are to McCutcheon.

Thank you for making this year great.

Phones ringing, buzzers buzzing, typewriters clacking—it's enough to say, "Calgon take me away!" But day in and day out, the secretaries keep working. Always busy filing, typing, and answering that constantly ringing phone, the secretaries put in a long day.

The school nurse, Rosalyn Boyd, is always ready to help the students. Whether it is a fever, headache, or a bloody nose, she always sympathetic and motherly.

Thanks to all of you for being Mavericks and sharing in that Maverick pride.

A DECADE OF SCHOLARSHIP

Language Arts Inspire Creativity

Looking for fun and a lot of learning? Look no further than McCutcheon's English Department. Mr. VanHyfte, Department Chairperson, combined his teaching ability with Mr. Kinsey, Mr. Herber, Mr. Pruitt, Mr. Hoke, and Mr. Henry to produce a fun filled year. The Speech Team, coached by Mr. Hoke and Mr. Pruitt, capped another successful year. Mr. Kinsey directed both the Musical and Spring Play with outstanding results. The Boys Basketball coach, Mr. Henry, had a good team. Mr. Herber takes time to help out McCutcheon's newspaper, The Bullhorn. The English teachers don't only teach they get involved

1 Mr. Kinsey teaches Joe Bryant and Kim Marlatt the art of tying a tie

4 Mr. Pruitt, helps Angela Fields with a grammar lesson

5 Mr. Herber sports a T shirt with his motto — "I may grow older, but I'll never grow up"

Mavs Master Business Skills

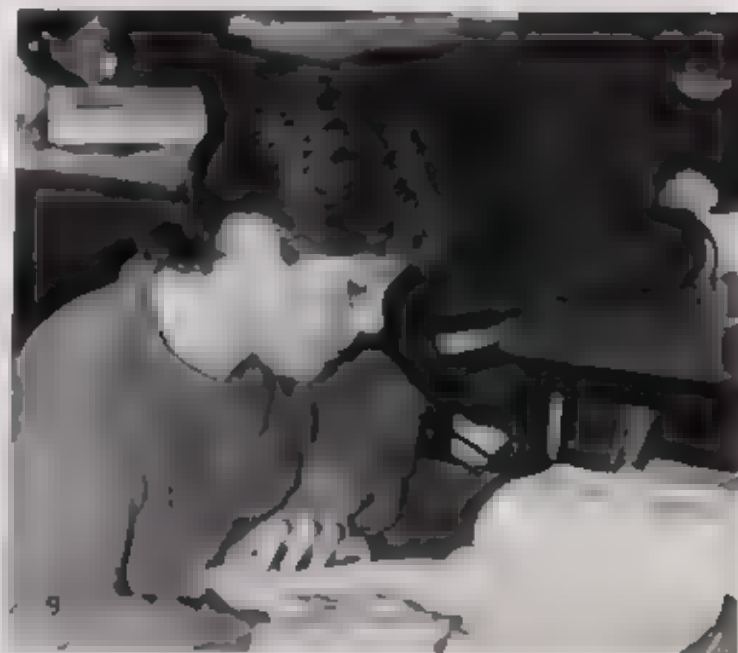

6 — Michelle Freeman works on the new IBM Business Computers in Secretarial Office Procedures class

7 — Mrs. Aebi teaches the typing class how to type a manuscript

8 — Michel Ostheimer ponders the mystery of a ditto machine

9 — Senior Kim Miles double checks her accounting figures

Department Chairperson Carol Aebi, along with Mrs. Gunderson, Mr. Mikels, and Mr. Yates, manage to teach the seemingling dull and drab skills of typing, shorthand, and business in a fun and exciting way. This feat alone shows the talent and dedication of these teachers as they show students the necessary skills needed to become a professional in the business world. Mr. Mikels teaches Accounting, General Business, and Business Law; Mr. Yates teaches Typing II; and Mrs. Aebi and Mrs. Gunderson teach Typing, Shorthand, and Office Procedures.

Without these teachers, McCutcheon students would not be able to leave school and go straight into a business type job

Students Challenged in

Math, that sometimes dreaded but needed subject, has become important to students as a requirement for college. McCutcheon's math teachers; Mr. Cleaver, Department Chairperson, Mr. Bates, Mr. Flowers, Mr. Gosma, and Mr. Nargi have done an excellent job teaching students anything from basic arithmetic to the not-so basic art of proofwriting. The formulas required for Calculus that seem like a foreign language to some students are pounded into the heads of others.

Along with the math courses, computers also are a helpful insight for college bound students. Computer Science, taught by Mr. Bates, offered knowledge of programming computers and utilizing programs written by others. At the rate our country is advancing, one can see how math and computers play a large portion of this success.

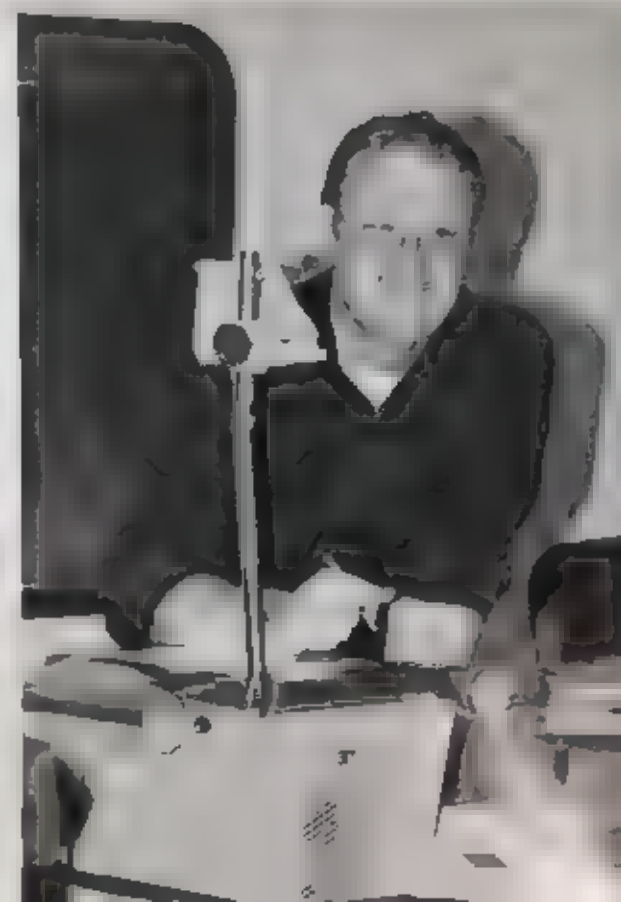

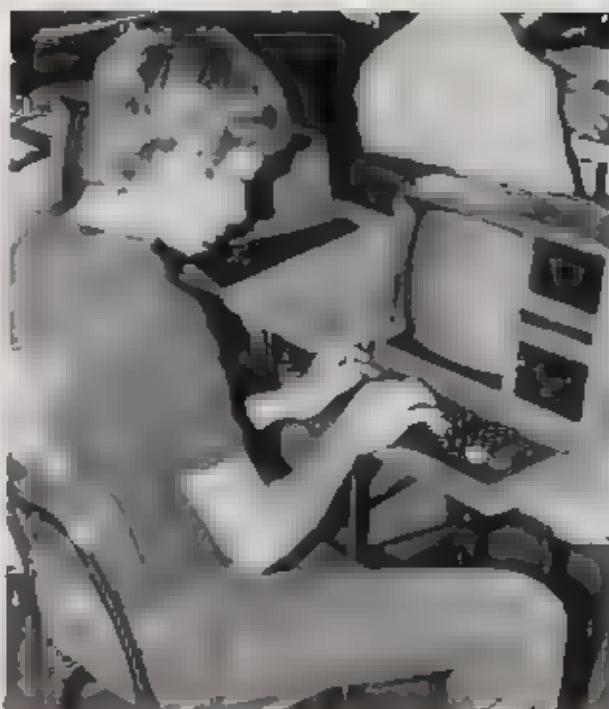

1 Ron Spray listens intently in Algebra class

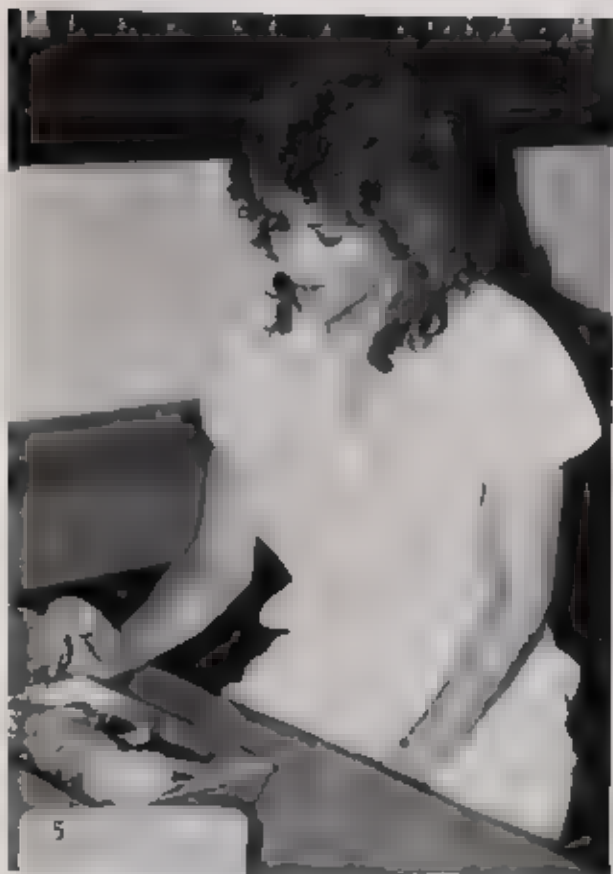

2 Future computer programmers get their beginning in Mr. Bates' class

3 Andy Harbath works on the TRS 80

4 Mr. Flowers uses the overhead to help explain mathematical concepts

Math And Science Courses

Department Chairperson Mr. Hildreth and Biology teacher Mr. Montes help students explore the area of science. Mr. Hildreth focuses on the earth itself; elements and basic formulations of the earth. Mr. Montes' main point of interest is in life itself. Disecting pigs, examining a "seemingly normal" section of grass under a microscope or just closely watching the moving life under a rock were all experiments students performed. Difficult, but interesting, the study of science proves to be a great experience for anyone ready for a challenge

- 5 — Melissa Berryman dissects a fetal pig
- 6 — Mr. Hildreth assists Sherry Ingram with her chemistry experiment
- 7 — Brad Coddington and Danny Peters study erosion in Earth Science
- 8 — The microscope teacher Ramona Hansen about invisible life

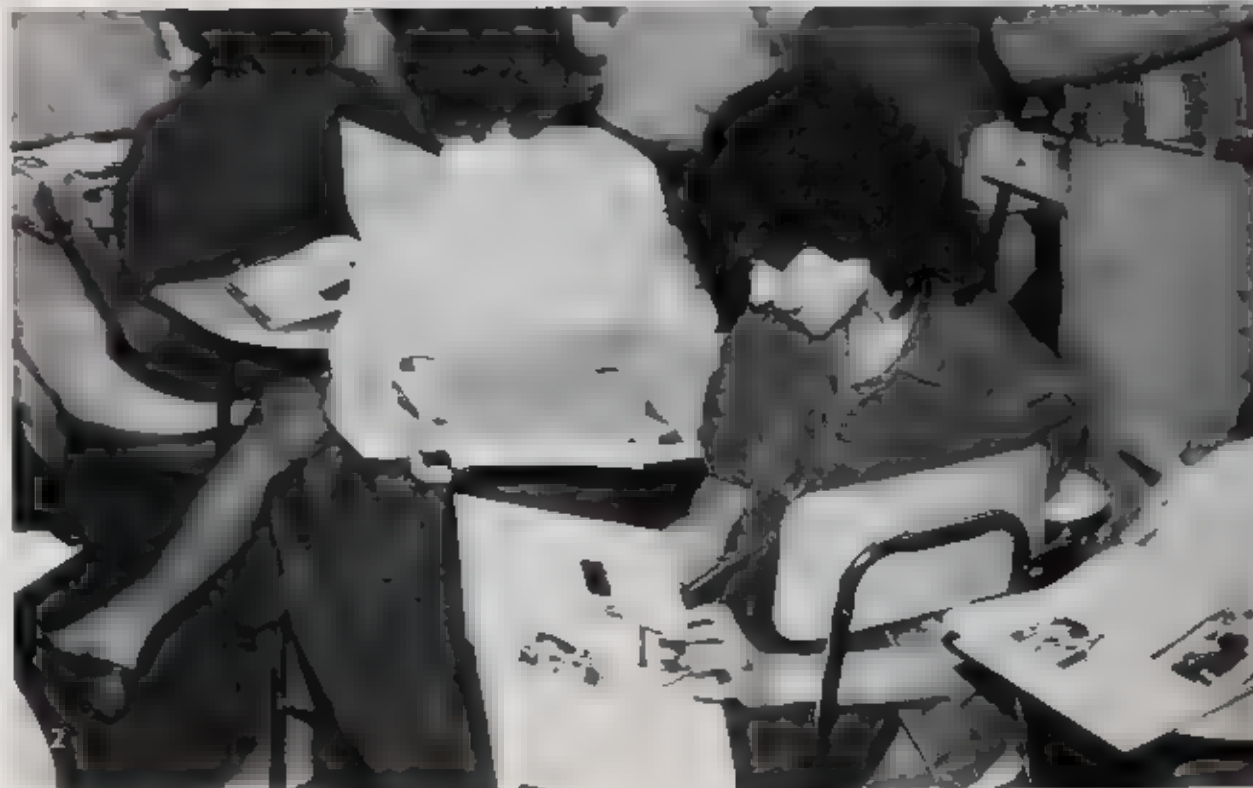

Mavs Study Foreign

French, the language of love. Well, maybe not at McCutcheon, but quite a few of the students seem to not only enjoy, but also excel in this language. Mr. O'Kane, the French teacher has put a great deal of time and effort into his classes, and the results have been a number of outstanding students. In the National French Contest, Stef Myers placed first in level I, Jody Mussche in level II, and Anita Chase in level III. Sixteen others qualified for State competition; Kristy Koning, Andy Wilson, Jana Rice, Kelli Smith, Kathy German, Julie Smith, Karla Gordon, Karrie Jernagan, John Reeve, Kathy Decker, Lisa Albregts, Curt Utz, Melissa Grimes, Lisa Witham, Steph Girardot, and Tracey Roberts.

Spanish students have been through quite a change this year. Mrs. Greeley took a year to go to Kentucky with her husband to do some work as houseparents, so Mrs. Holec started teaching this year. Around Christmas however, her husband was transferred to Texas. Once again, the Spanish classes had a new teacher. Mrs. Thomas, who had been at McCutcheon since the start of the second semester, and finished the year here.

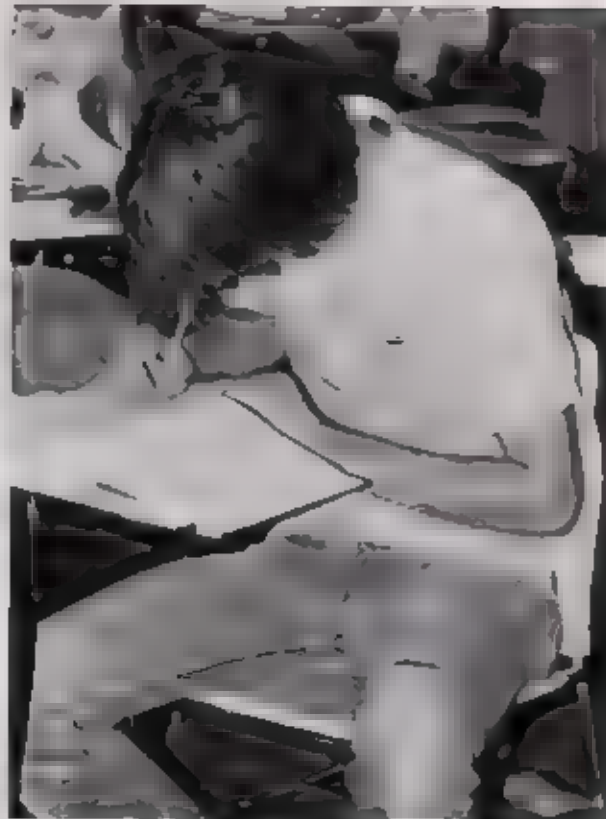

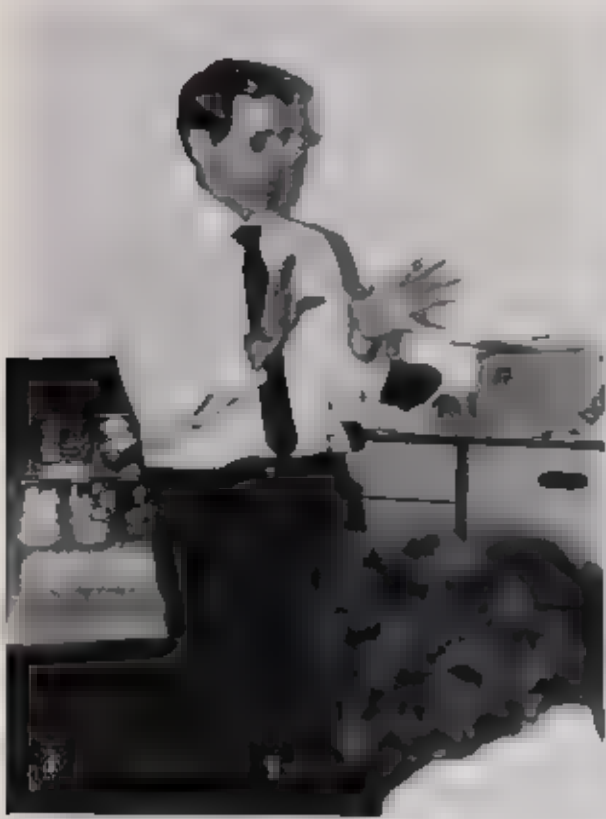

Both French and Spanish are important languages, and with good teachers, these students can excel in high school and college.

1 Mr. O'Kane teaches his French students how to conjugate verbs.

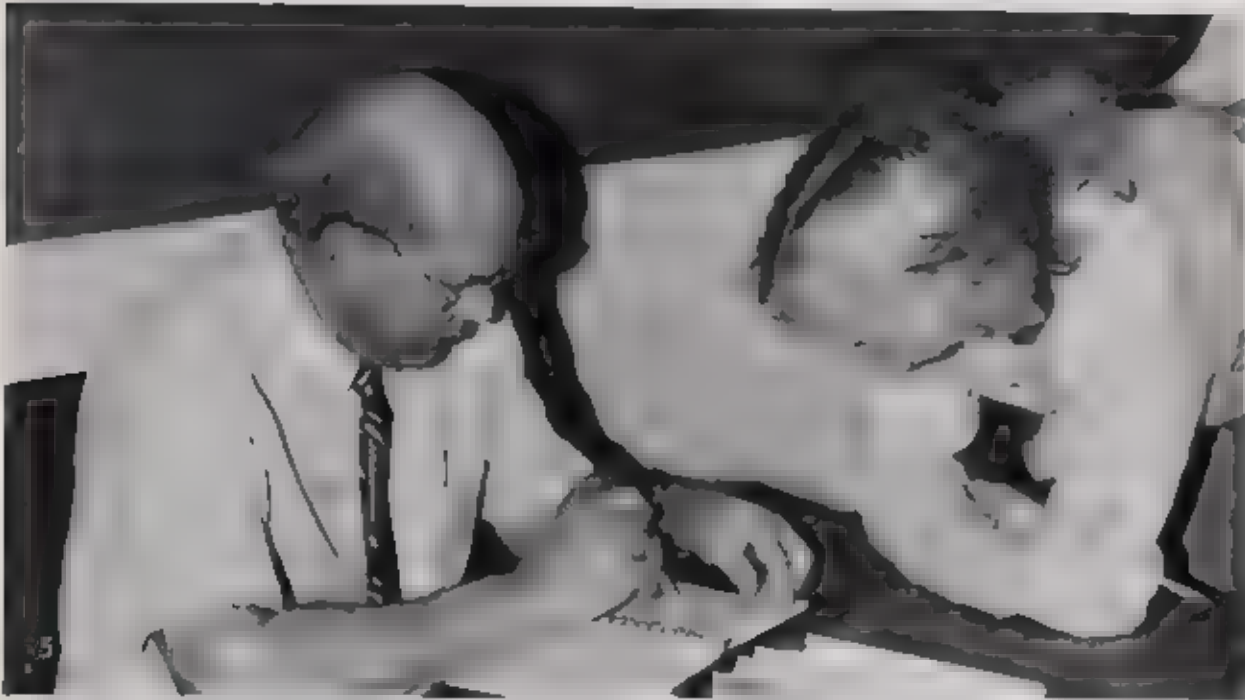

2 Gina VanZandt studies for a Spanish test.

And Native Cultures

The world was at our fingertips in the classes of Government, U.S. History, and World History as the Social Studies teachers tried to teach us about the past, present, and future. Mr. Miner, department chairperson, along with Mr. Trieda, Mr. Rohr, Mrs. Gist, and Mr. Taylor have managed to keep history classes informative as well as interesting. The juniors lived through U.S. History and Miner film festivals, and the Seniors (altogether some were groaning) survived Government.

This yearbook, "A Decade of Excellence", has some history in itself, and most of these teachers mentioned were a big part of our history.

- 1 — Mr. Rohr elaborates on government policies
- 4 — An unknown Junior works on a History Assignment
- 5 — Mr. Tieda checks the grade book for a student
- 6 — These Juniors are more interested in the photographer than History

Students Learn Fundamentals

1 Bill Foreman watches Tolly Arnold serve in tennis.
 2 Tammy Crider pitches the ball.
 3 "Who's on my team?" Mr Fleetwood will let you know.
 4 - The human body intrigues Rebecca Bailey and Mr McCarthy.

Learning about the human body, and what to do in an emergency are two basic ideas of what Health teachers Mr. Worthington and Department Chairperson Mr. McCarthy teach. The semester class offered a new insight on ourselves.

Mrs. Worthington, Department Chairperson for Physical Education, and Mr. Fleetwood teach students the importance of staying in shape and the fundamental skills of Physical Education.

Both classes are a big help students and the teachers are well appreciated.

Of Good Health

The Home Economics program offers large variety for students. Clothing, Foods, Child Development, Housing, Single Living, and Creative Stitchery were the classes that Mrs. Strueh, Department Chairperson, and Mrs. Wheeldon taught.

In Foods classes, the Home Ec. students made many kinds of foods, like biscuits and cakes, and even had a cake decorating contest.

Child Development had a week where young children were taken in, as a preschool. The students noted how these children acted to certain situations.

These teachers have taught students the fundamentals of living alone.

6 — Jennifer Feldt comforts a preschooler at the Home Ec. playschool.

7 — Bob Brown escorts Mrs. Strueh to lunch.

8 — A lively bunch of play schoolers listen to a story.

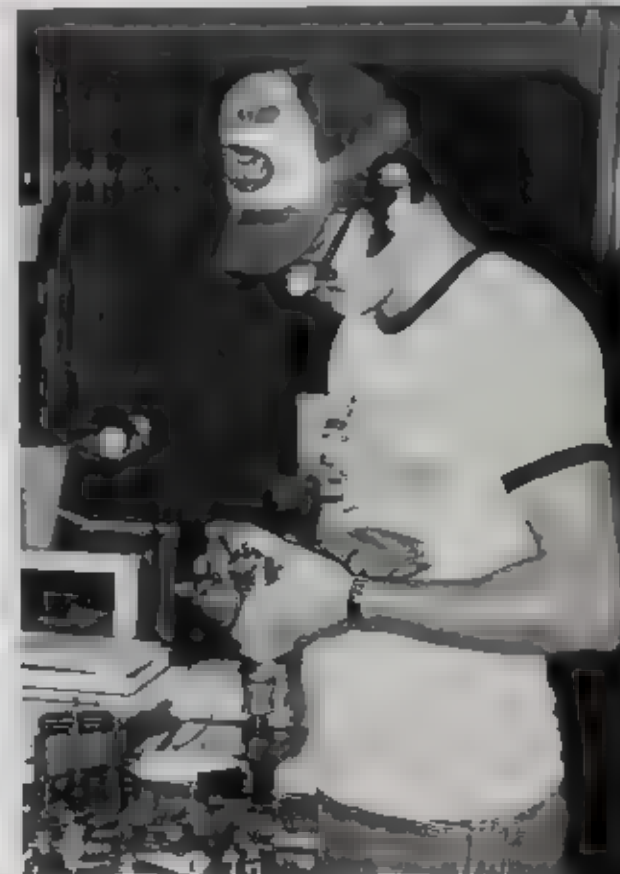

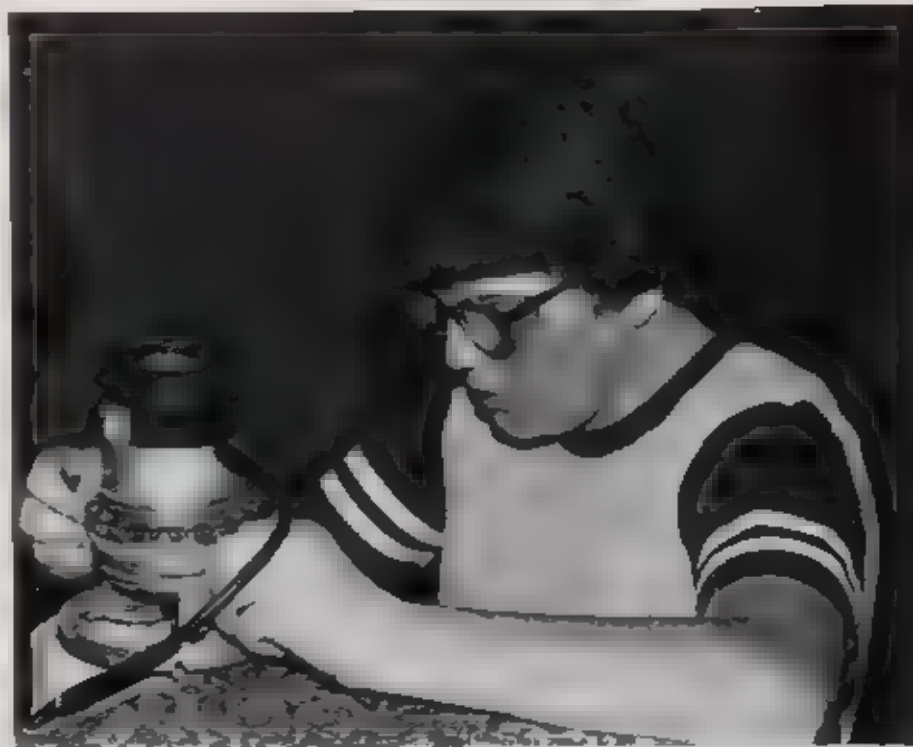

Vocational Students Learn Practical

VICA students have had a successful year, and Mr. Bryan is a key factor in this. Five students went to Regionals (Angela Bates, Dorinda Straub, Mike Kelsey, John Bryant, and Tony Cruz). Tony placed in the top four and moved to the State VICA Contest. Julie Bedwell held the office of State Reporter for VICA; the first time a McCutcheon student held a state office for VICA.

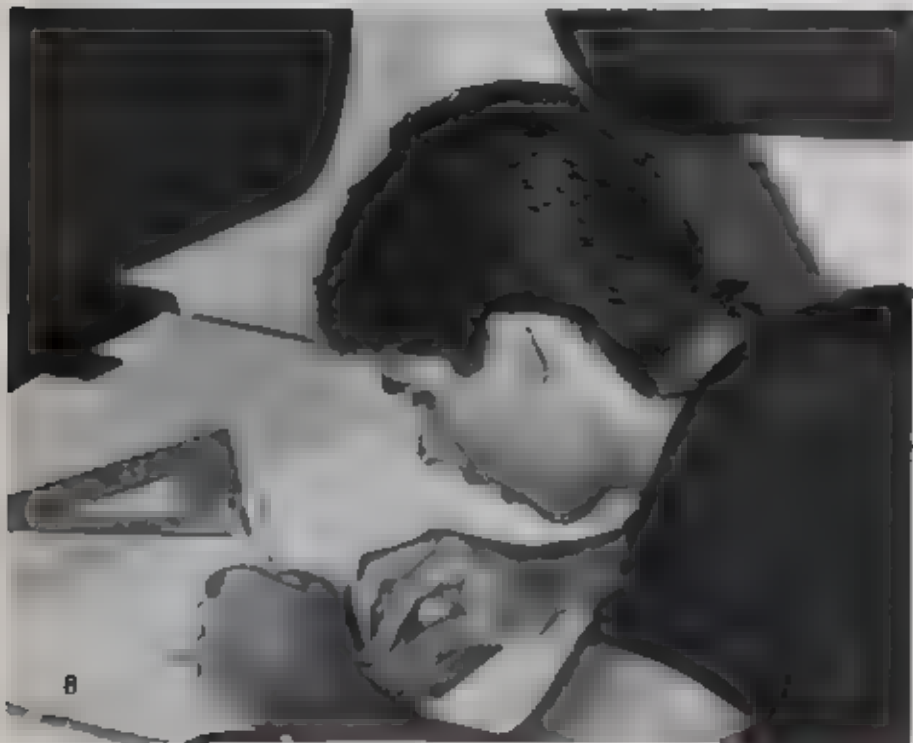

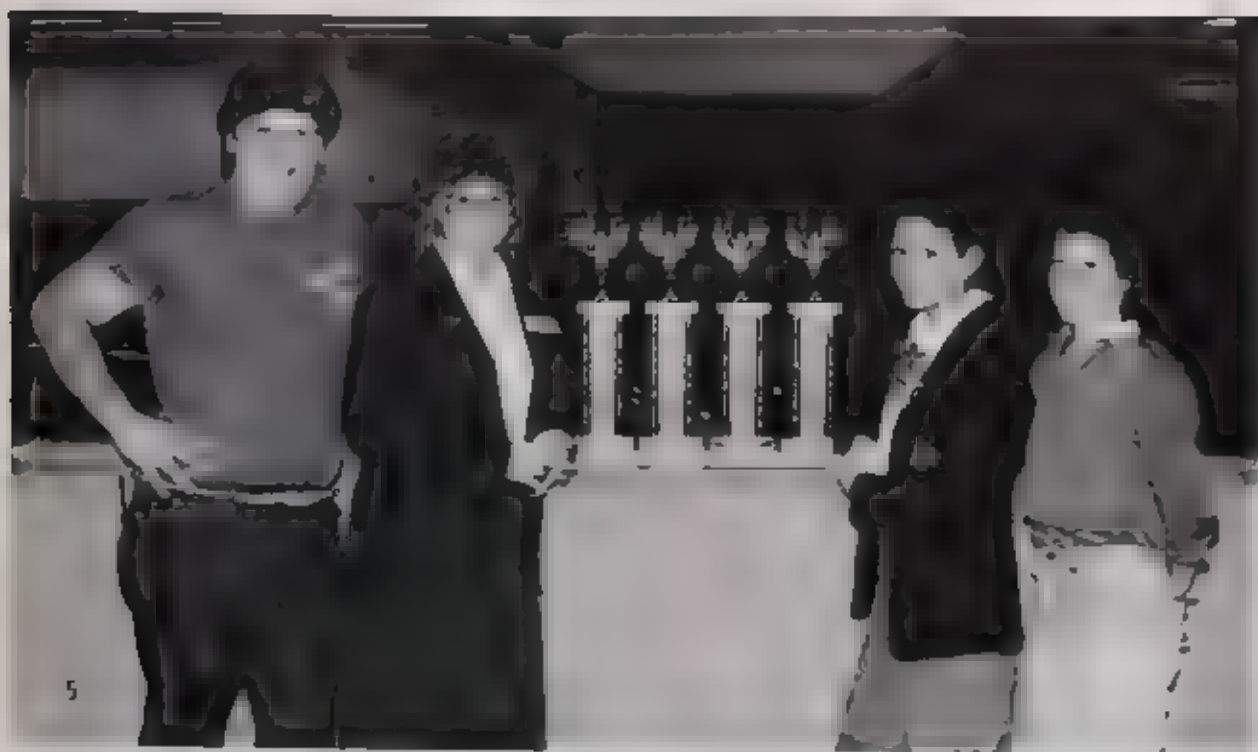

Mr. Schopmeyer has coached the FFA team in another outstanding year. The Livestock Team — John Pearl, Kevin Pendleton, Jeff Cornell, and Kenny Moore — won the county contest in Lafayette. Although Mr. Schopmeyer is retiring after this year, the FFA chapter at McCutcheon has enough of his knowledge to succeed.

The members of the McCutcheon DECA chapter ended this year by sending — Kay Keebler, Eugene Kerr, Barb Partlow, Diane Stout, and Jamie Lumsdon — to Nationals in San Francisco where they excelled in marketing. All of their efforts paid off when the five arrived in San Francisco to compete.

All clubs have outstanding teachers and thanks to them, outstanding students.

Choirs And Bands Host

Playing at every festive occasion, from games to Graduation, the band always entertains the crowds. Mr. Ewigleben, the director, produced an excellent band after hours of long hard work and dedication. His efforts, and the hours of practice put into a harmonious band.

This year the bands traveled to compete in many contests, and placing first in the Annual Band Contest was a highlight of the year.

From the quiet, melodius flute to the blaring, jazzing trumpet, to the pounding, rythmic drum, each and every member is important to the bands' success.

Do Re-Mi-Fa-So-La-Ti Do . . . walking by the choir room, the voices of Sophomore Mixed Choir, Girls Choir, or Concert Choir can be heard warming up under the direction of Ms. Murray.

The Sophomore Mixed Choir is simply a choir where the new Sophomores sing together and find out if they have an interest in choir. The Girls Choir is a small choir made up of only girls. The Concert Choir, the major choir, is by try outs only, and available to Juniors and Seniors only. This is the choir that puts on shows and travels.

The voices of McCutcheon ring loud and strong, and as long as people find enjoyment in music, the choirs will continue to sing.

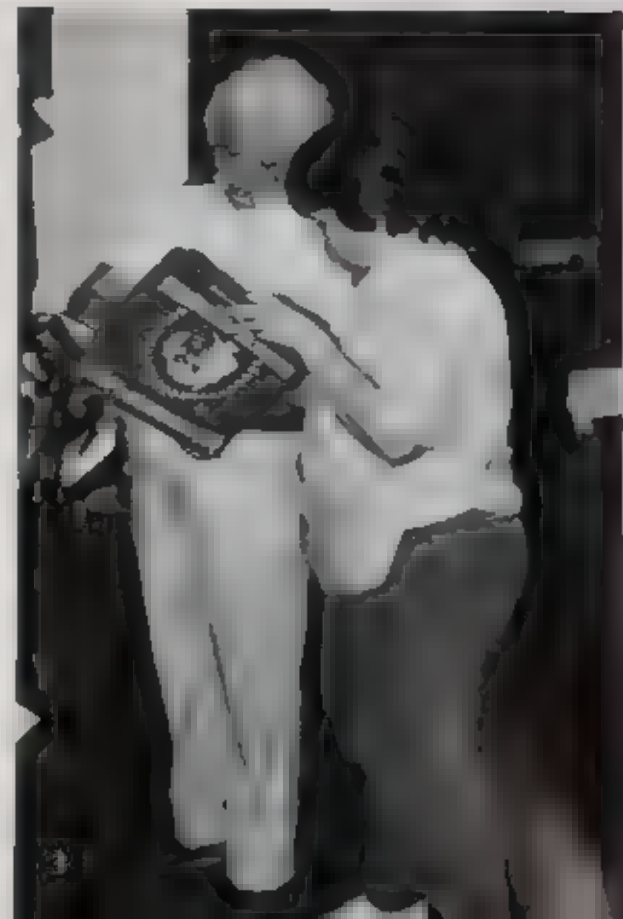

Library And Audio Visual Staff Provide Services

The cheery voices, "can I help you find anything?" are always present in the Library, as Miss Marthey, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Butz pick out the frustrated faces of bewildered students writing a term paper. The Library, an institute often taken for granted, holds numerous amounts of information. The Audio-Visual room, or A.V. room is equipped with television cameras, film projectors, tape recorders, and record players. These are used by students for presentations and by teachers for teaching aides.

Helping students and teachers, the Librarians sport an enjoyable, but hectic job as yet another "silent hero".

Art Department Offers New Course In Photography

Around the school these students wander. Known to most of the other students, they are the talented artists. Miss Gever, McCutcheon's Art teacher, has the hard and sometimes frustrating job of turning these students into a Van Gogh. Although the talent is there, getting students to release it and to be proud of this gift, not embarrassed, is sometimes difficult. Through painting, drawing, molding clay, and cutting wood, the creativity and talent flows.

The murals along McCutcheon's wall during spirit week are proof of these talented people, and with Miss Gever, their talents can be polished and perfected.

Special Services Individualize Instruction

Mrs. Milazzo and Mr. Vanderkolk spend hours helping students with special needs. Finding a goal in life is sometimes as difficult as reaching it, and these teachers work with students, one-to-one and help them through hard times and homework.

Filled with school spirit, Mrs. Milazzo and Mr. Vanderkolk are always dressed up for those wild-n-crazy spirit days and give students a boost of "McCutcheon pride" as they follow suit.

Sectional

For the third consecutive year the Mavericks broke the school record for most wins as they posted 26 victories and only ten defeats while winning their third sectional title in a row. In 1983 this senior group of sophomores set a new school record with a 24-15 season and again in 1984 they set the win record with 25-20 season.

The captain of the dominated squad was Mark Ritchie who played first base as well as winning five games on the mound. Mark was an outstanding fielder and finished second on the team with 47 hits, 25 stolen bases, and a .402 batting average. The most valuable player of the team was Mike Newell who also was MVP in tennis and basketball his senior year. Mike was our ace on the mound with 10 wins against 3 loses and an ERA of 2.69 while falling short of the school record for strikeouts with 110. Mike also led the team offensively with a school record 35 stolen bases, a school record 48 runs scored and he hit at a .381 clip.

The most prestigious award given by athletic teams at MHS is the David Ellison Mental Attitude which this season as well as the Sportsmanship award went to Brian Robinson. Brian set a school record with four triples this season while also leading the team with 50 hits. He was second in doubles with eight and second in RBI's with 37. Going into tournament play Brian was our fourth leading hitter with a .420 average, the second highest in school history

Jim Stark finished his career at MHS with school records in RBI's — 48, Doubles — 12, Home Runs — 14, and Walks with 34. Jim was also selected all state and all conference all three years at MHS. Along with Jim as all conference this season were Mike Newell, Mark Ritchie, and Brian Robinson.

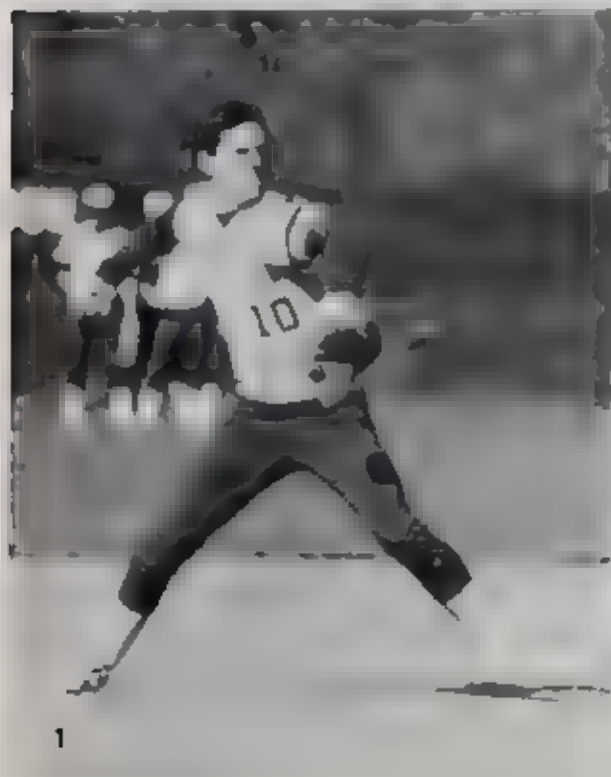

Other senior members of the 1985 sectional champs were catcher and recipient of the coaches award Blair Ford, the most improved player of the year Jim Kresl, designated hitter Mike Buckles, second baseman Mike Hill and outfielder Eric Wolf. These seniors finished their three year varsity career with 75 wins against only 35 losses, the best in school history.

Junior pitcher Gary Swank was selected as the Rookie of the Year. The others juniors on the team were Greg Burget, Mike Mellady, Jim Henderson, and Kevin Maynard. Sophomores Jim Miller and Clint Adams and freshmen Shawn Hartlep, Kyle Kerber, Preston Smith, and Mark Whitlock round out the sectional team. Our three managers who worked as hard as anyone on the team were Suzanne Beeler, Lora Short, and Brenda Simler. Brian Bailey was the trainer.

The two main highlights of the '85 season were knocking off the #1 rated LaPorte Slicers and winning the third sectional championship the Mavs beat Lafayette Catholic 5-4, Harrison 4-1, and then defeated Lafayette Jeff in a rain suspended game in nine innings by the score of 6-5.

What do you do when you combine Mr. Herber, Corene Bryant, Joanne Purdy, Matt Gunderson, Brad Coddington, and many other talented writers . . . THE BULLHORN!, McCutcheon's newspaper. Creating a newspaper does not mean writing a few articles.

Sure, students have to write, but ads must be sold to cover the costs of printing, and the articles must be typed. Hours of hard work after school and late into the evenings are needed for every publication to be successful, and to do that kind of work takes dedication.

Thanks to Mr. Herber and The Bullhorn staff for keeping us up to date on McCutcheon's happenings.

Yearbook Staff Celebrates McCutcheon's Decade Of Excellence

As McCutcheon celebrated its tenth anniversary the 1985 Tartan Yearbook staff was there to capture the special moment of this special year

The staff worked many long hours after school and during some of their summer vacation making this book an outstanding one. Only two members of the 1985 staff had previous experience on the yearbook (Missy Port and Cris Harrington), so this made the year even more of a challenge to the staff. Each of the members needed to learn to draw layouts, write caption and body copy, type copy, and take and prepare pictures.

Thanks to everyone who helped make this the best yearbook ever!

Mavs Say Farewell To 5 Excellent Teachers

Mr. George Treida has been teaching Social Studies, whether it is Government, Psychology, or Economics, since 1955. He graduated from Purdue University with his BPEd. in 1952, and with his M.S. in 1966. His first teaching job was in Shelby Township where he taught and coached. In 1958 he moved to East Tapp, and in 1961 he moved to Southwestern, where he began teaching P.E. When McCutcheon opened, Mr. Treida began working for the Mavericks.

He and his wife Kathe have two sons, David and Eric. An outdoors fan, Mr. Treida enjoys fishing and camping and any sport.

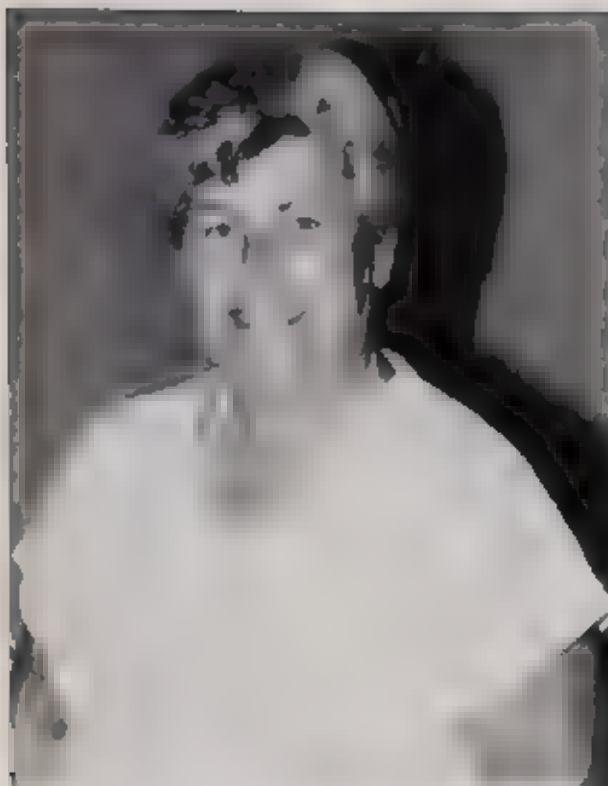

Mr. Charles Mikels has had a diverse well-rounded career. Graduating from Battle Ground H.S., he proceeded to get his A.B. from Canterbury College (Central Normal) in 1949. A big I.U. fan, he graduated with his masters in 1953 and completed 30 extra hours in 1962.

He began teaching Business Education in 1949 at Dillsboro, IN. From 1953-63, Mr. Mikels served as principal there. In '63, he moved his place of employment, but not his position, and was the principal in Paoli, IN. He took on extra responsibility as Superintendent from 64-69 at Paoli, and in 1969 he moved to TSC, where he held Superintendent until 1974. In 1974-75 he held the office of Director of Secondary Education. Mr. Mikels finally ended up at MHS in 1975 where he taught Business Education.

- 3 — Mrs. Greeley helps a Spanish student with the pronunciation of these words
- 4 — Mrs. Treida shows her friendly smile to the photographer
- 5 — Mr. Treida helps Mavs understand the U.S. economic system.

Mrs. Kathe Treida, that wonderful woman who gave both time and love to the MOMH students, also retired with her husband. Born in Germany, Mrs. Treida began working as a teachers' aide for the Tippecanoe School Corporation at Mayflower Mill Elementary School. She then transferred to McCutcheon and began working with the MOMH students.

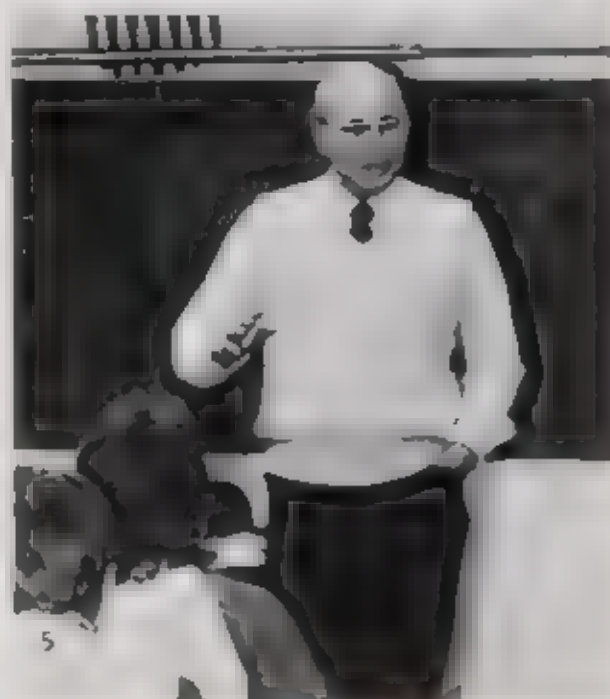

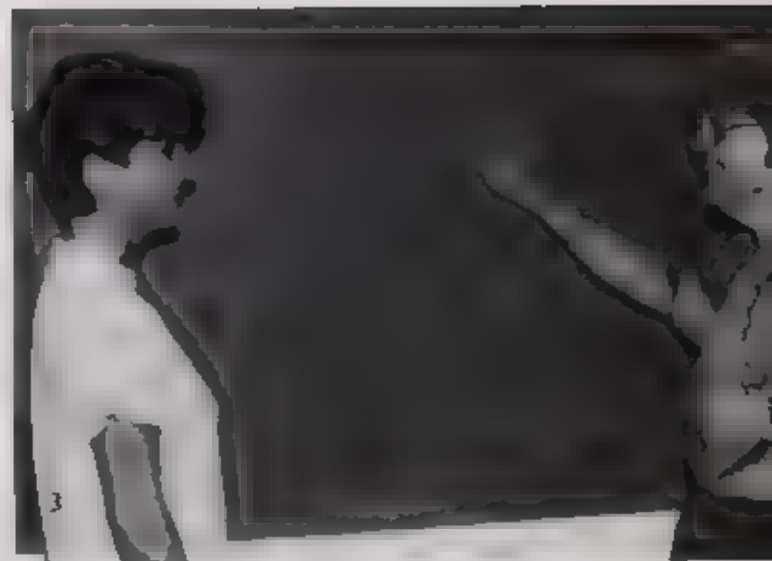

She and Mr. Treida are living in Fort Myers, Fla., where she has the opportunity to continue her work with special education students.

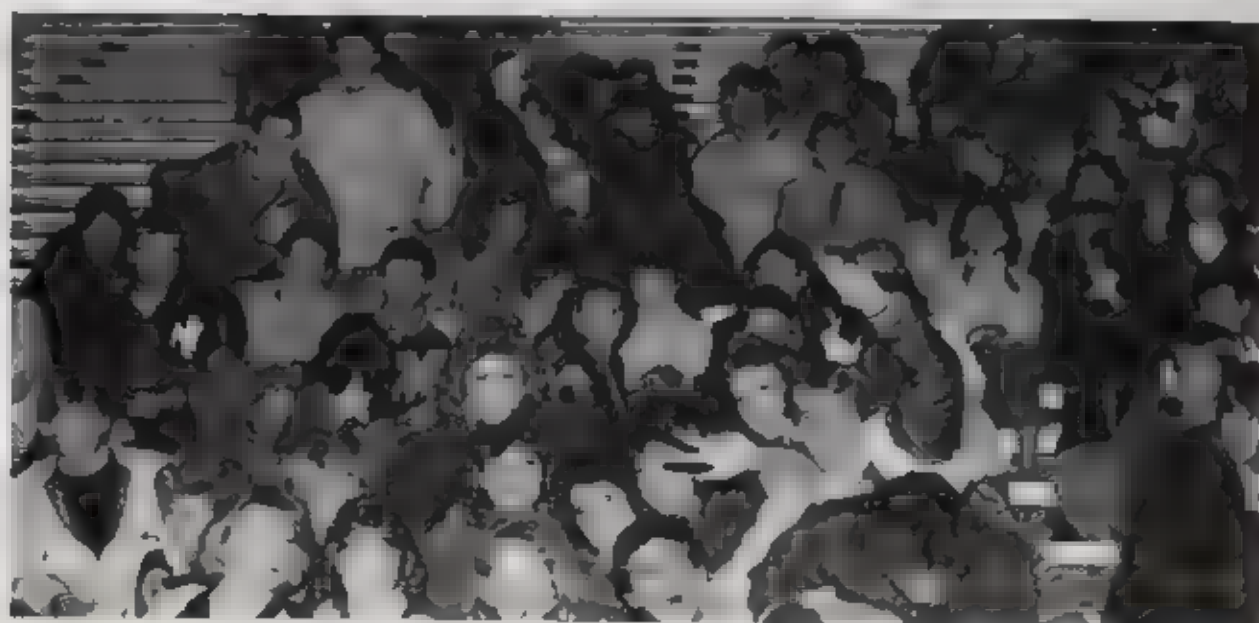

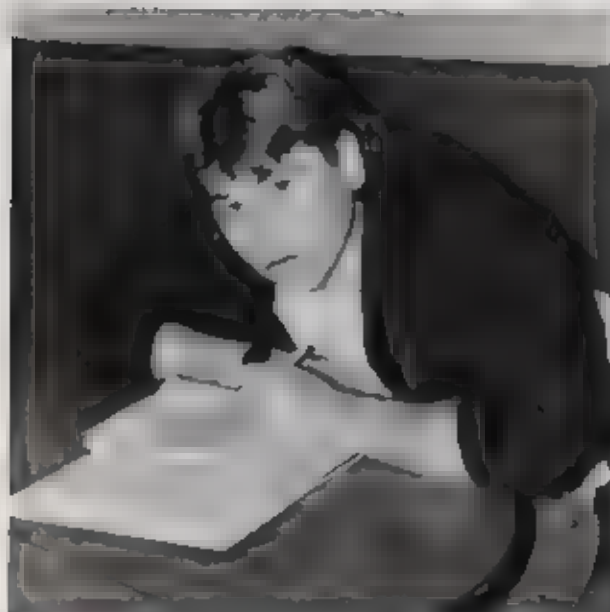

Mr. John Schopmeyer has been at McCutcheon for ten years teaching Vocational Agriculture. He graduated from Purdue University with his B.S. and 30 hours beyond his masters. Mr. Schopmeyer began teaching in Randolph Township (Romney) in 1949. Moving to Southwestern in 1956 he began teaching for the Tippecanoe County School Corporation. When Southwestern became a Junior High Mr. Schopmeyer transferred to McCutcheon, and has been here since 1975.

Married to Joyce, Mr. Schopmeyer jogs 3 miles a day when he is not watching the Yankees or the Celtics play.

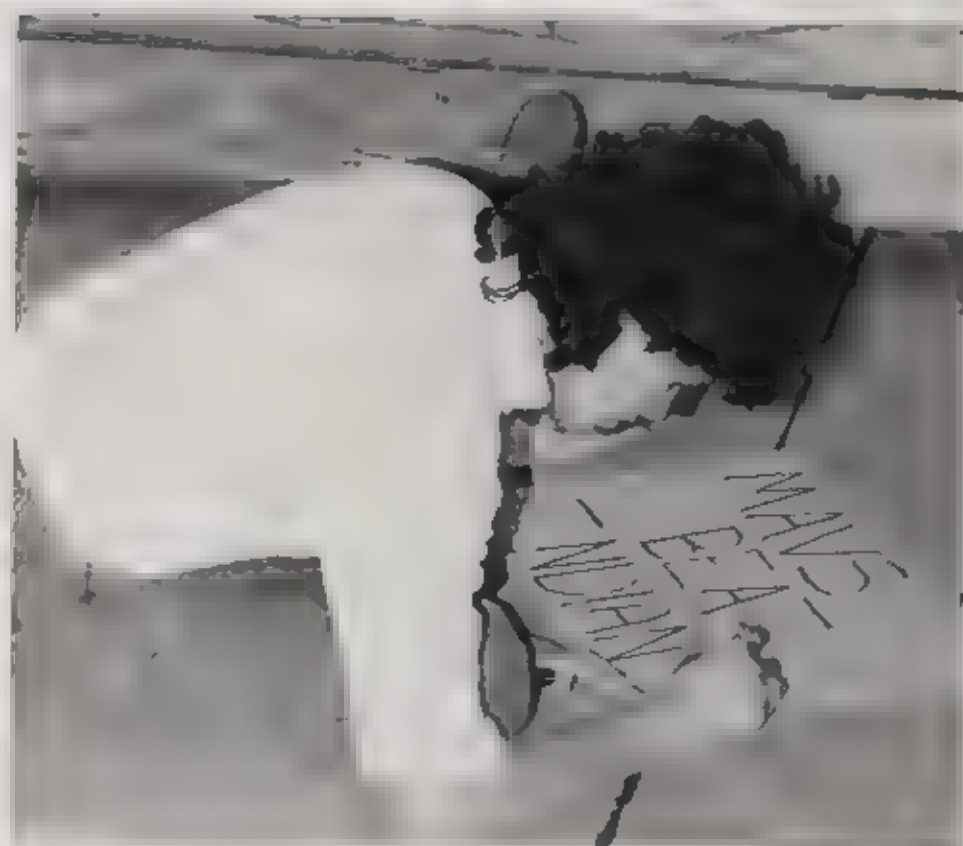

Mrs. Ellen Greeley attended Bradley University, Indiana State University, and obtained her A.B. from Indiana University. She received her M.S. at Purdue University in 1970. She taught grade school, French, History, and Spanish in various schools before coming to McCutcheon and Southwestern in 1975 where she taught Spanish. During the 1984-85 school year Mrs. Greeley took a leave of absence and she and her husband moved to Kentucky where they worked at a church mission. After retirement from T.S.C. she planned to continue her work at the mission.

Yearbook Staff Looks Back At McCutcheon's "Decade Of Excellence"; Looks Forward To A Great Future

We the 1985 TARTAN Yearbook Staff looked back at McCutcheon's Decade of Excellence as we celebrated our ten year anniversary. We reminisced over our triumphs and how we overcame our problems in building McCutcheon into the school it is today.

We wish to thank Doug Denhardt and Alan Holtman of Douglas Studios, for our professional photographs, Mr. Jacob Burton for our Athletic team pictures, Dick Maurer our Jostens/American Yearbook Company Representative for his guidance, Mr. Harold Resler and Mr. David Thayer, our principals for their support, and most of all, you McCutcheon Mavericks, for giving us this Decade of Excellence. With your continued support we look forward to a great future.
